were sived. It is thought that the fire started in the kitchen, but when Manager McNuley and three or four members of the club, who were staying at the bouse, were awakened, the flames had made such headway that it was impossible to fight successfully with the crude appliances at hand. The fire burned for almost an hour before it finished its work of destruc ion. The house was a two-story frame structure owned by Mrs. J. P. Calvett, and leased by the club. The value of the house is estimated at $1,500. The building had been recently repaired and refitted, at considerable expense. The club is composed principally of Washington men and numbers about 100 members. A number of them will suffer the loss of guns and fishing tackle that were of guns and fishing tackle that were kept at the clubhouse. The north-western skies were for some time illuminated by the fire which attracted attention of many in this city who were on the street at the time.

JUNIOR ORDER OF MECHANICS —The annual convention of the State Council of Virginia Junior Order United American Mechanics convened in the Acad emy of Music building in Norfolk on Tuesday morning. The meeting was well attended by representatives from all portions of the Etate. The various reports of the officers were very grati-fying, which showed an increase in the number of Councils and membership and a hand-ome balance in the treas-ury after meeting its obligations. Af-ter adjournment of the evening session all repaired to the banqueting hall nearby, where covers were laid for 100, nearby, where covers were laid for 100, at the conclusion of which speechmaking was indulged in and at a late hour the assemblage adjourned. The delegat s who attended from this city are profuse in their praise for the cordial reception tendered them by the Norfolk Juniors. Among the Alexandrians who received honors in the State body were the following: Mr. James R. Mansfield, State Councilor; Mr. Thomas Chauncey, Conductor, and Mr. W. D. Zimmerman, Trusce. The next meeting of the State Council will be held at Lynchburg the 15th of April, 1903.

> Upon being taken to the station house he wrots "B. F. Snockley" on a pad. The officer had reason to believe that the man was engaged in a pantomime. Several characters had just been driven out of Washington for playing the deaf and dumb game, it having been ascertained that they could hear and talk as other people, and Shockley had well as other people, and Shockley had just arrived from that city. It was be-lieved that he was one of the banished individuals. The Mayor this morning was evidently of the same opinion, although he falled to get Shockley to speak, and he sent him to the chain gang for twenty days. Apropos of the above, an individual was in this city a few days ago who held his left arm in the chape of a letter C, pretending it had been placed in that position by an accident. After succeeding in getting money from some people he walked away and when he had reached a spot where he supposed no one was looking at him his arm immediately assumed its natural position.
